AND English SELO programme
(European Section) at lycée level

The third-term class council gives its recommendation, after which families are informed of the outcome.

Première

A letter of motivation must be written on school premises in May or June.

The English teacher and the teacher of the chosen DNL (a non-language subject taught in English) give their recommendations at the third-term class council meeting.

To join the Mathematics DNL course, the student must take either the Mathematics specialism or the optional Complementary Mathematics course in Terminale.

Terminale

Admission to the European Section is not possible if the student did not take a DNL course in Première.

To join the Mathematics DNL course, the student must take either the Mathematics specialism or the optional Complementary Mathematics course in Terminale.

2. Students newly joining the school

Collège and Seconde

Students who were already enrolled in an optional English LCE programme or a European Section at their previous school are automatically admitted to the corresponding programme at LFIB, subject to places being available.

Otherwise, admission is only possible at the end of the first term, following a letter of motivation written on school premises and a recommendation from the class council.

Première

Students who were already enrolled in a European Section at their previous school are automatically admitted to the European Section at LFIB, subject to places being available.

A letter of motivation must be written on school premises. The English teacher and the teacher of the chosen DNL give their recommendations.

Admission is no longer possible after the first term.

Terminale

Enrolment is only possible if the student took a DNL course taught in English in Première, regardless of the subject. A letter of motivation is not required in this case.

If a student arrives after December (after registration for the Baccalauréat) and previously took a DNL subject that is not offered at LFIB, the school leadership requests authorisation from the French regional education authority (rectorat) to change the DNL subject.
